

FRIDAY'S LECTURE WORTH CHAUTAUQUA TICKET PRICE

Dr. Thomas E. Green's Lecture Delights Large Audience—Russian Musicians Please in Two Programs Friday.

Those who were fortunate enough to attend the Maysville Chautauqua on Friday evening heard one of the best lectures which has been delivered in Maysville for quite a while. Dr. Thomas E. Green, long a favorite on the chautauqua and lyceum platform, delivered his newest lecture on "Holding the Outposts." Being a National officer of the American Red Cross and having recently returned from an inspection trip over the battle fields of Europe, Dr. Green was well prepared for the sort of a lecture he presented.

Dr. Green is a most interesting speaker with a great fund of knowledge at his command and for more than an hour he held his audience spellbound.

On Friday afternoon the Starr Russian Company entertained with music on Russian instruments and singing and this was repeated in the evening with an exhibition of Russian dancing. The seven-year-old daughter of the manager of the company also delighted the audience and especially the little folk, in a demonstration of Russian dancing. Taken in all Friday's program was exceptionally good and measured up with the daily program of any previous chautauqua.

Saturday afternoon the Imperial Concert Party with Alfred Hiles Bergen, baritone, will give a concert and on Saturday evening at 7:30 o'clock Dr. S. S. Lappin will deliver a patriotic lecture, "Can America Make Good?" Following the lecture in the evening, the Imperial Concert Party will give another concert.

On Sunday the Chautauqua is turned over to the Maysville Boys' Band and their first concert in their Kentucky Cardinal uniforms will be given. There will be a special charge of 25 cents for the concert. This will be charged all holders of season tickets as well as others, the entire proceeds going to the band. Union service will be held at night which will be free to all.

Freeman Kurtz, aged 25, and Miss Dallas Haley, aged 22, both of Brooksville, Bracken county, were granted marriage license here Saturday.

LITTLE GIRL ACCIDENTALLY SHOT BY HER PLAYMATE

Seven-Year-Old Boy Accidentally Discharges Rifle and Gladys Combes Is Shot in the Neck.

While playing at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Combes in the Maysville neighborhood late Friday afternoon, Orville Hill, the seven-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. A. P. Hill, shot and wounded Gladys Combes, the nine-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Combes.

The children got hold of an old rifle and were playing with it when the gun was discharged. The shot entered the little girl's neck and was later removed by physicians from the back of the neck. Attending physicians do not think the wound will prove a very serious one and it is thought that the little girl will get along nicely unless some complications develop.

CAMPMEETING IS NEARING CLOSE FOR THIS SEASON

Greatest Crowd of Recent Years Is Expected at Old Ruggies On Next Monday.

Ruggies Campgrounds, August 5.—The close of another camping season is drawing near. How this happy group of campers will hate to "break camp" and go back to their homes! Without doubt it has been the best, the happiest camping season within our knowledge. In this we are all agreed. From a religious standpoint it has been a real "mount of blessing" from a social standpoint it has been just one happy reunion of nearly two weeks duration. Nothing has happened to jar the even flow of good times. Already the success of the next camping season seems assured. With the possible exception of four rooms every cottage and room has been reserved for next year. How is that for success? The Board of Directors are full of plans for next year. If the Epworth League Institute idea can be put over it will be an occasion of the greatest interest, not only to those who usually come here, but for the whole Kentucky conference.

The day began with another new preacher, Rev. W. C. Stewart, of Augusta, in charge of the prayer service.

At 10 a. m. Dr. Fort gave his last Sunday school efficiency talk, on the subject "Play and Religion." It was a talk fraught with excellent suggestions for the right care of the young life of our communities. He emphasized the necessity of the Sunday school earling for the social, the play side of child nature. It was with much regret that the camp bid Dr. Fort a good bye for this year. But he too, has fallen in love with Ruggies and has reserved rooms for himself and family next year, intending to spend two weeks here if plans come round alright.

Our singer, Bro. Ashley, preached at the young peoples' service. Ashley is a prime favorite with the younger element and they turned out in large numbers to hear him. As he did the preaching a new chorus director was put into service, Dean Ryder, of Union College. He proved in a very few minutes that he could sing himself, and direct a choir as well as preach. Dr. Ryder will give the Saturday morning sermon. This will be another unexpected treat. So much good preaching this year. Our oldest campers are saying nothing like it has ever been heard.

The climax of the day came with the great young folks rally this evening. Promptly at 7 o'clock at the sound of the bugle out in the camp everyone assembled, forming into line according to ages and then led by the cornet the whole camp marched around Tabernacle square and into the tabernacle. Seats were reserved for each separate group. The choir was made up of persons over fifty years of age. And, by the way, it was a choir hard to beat. About forty persons of this age were on the platform and the way they sang the old songs was uplifting. A flash light photograph was taken of the crowded tabernacle before the service began. Dr. Birney then gave another of his stirring revival sermons, following which a large group of the children gave themselves in consecration to the Christ life. It was indeed a service of triumph and it was a rejoicing crowd that departed after the service.

Mr. R. M. Hawkins, the Cincinnati photographer, who last year made the pictures from which cuts were made for the Ruggies Campmeeting booklet, came into the camp today. It wasn't long before the campers had him and his camera busy taking views. The new "Lane Inn" was photographed from several angles. Campers may be assured that good results will be given by Mr. Hawkins.

The Rev. F. S. Pollitt, of Huntington, W. Va., is here visiting his mother and enjoying the camping. Dr. Pollitt is a leading minister of the M. E. Church, South, and by the way, a native of Lewis county. It was quite a pleasure for the writer to renew acquaintance with him after a separation of forty years. For in our boyhood days he was our pastor at Old Stone church on Lawrence Creek. It was a pleasure to talk about people and happenings of those days way back in 1881.

We are having a continuous visitation of distinguished ministers of other denominations as well as our own. Rev. W. B. Campbell, president of Kentucky Wesleyan College, was here for a while today. He has been looking after Wesleyan students in this section and took advantage of the good opportunity to see Ruggies Campmeeting in action.

Messrs. Ralph Riggs, of Ironton, Ohio, and C. F. Trent, of Russell, Ky., arrived this morning to remain until the close. Col. and Mrs. W. H. Thomas had as their guests yesterday. "Memorial

LOU TELLEGEN SUES GERALDINE FARRAR FOR DIVORCE

Famous Actor, Popular Here, Seeks Separation From Wife, Famous Movie Star and Opera Singer.

New York, August 5.—Lou Tellegen, has filed suit for separation from his wife, Geraldine Farrar, opera singer, on a charge of desertion. It was announced tonight by Tellegen's counsel. The suit, according to Tellegen's attorney, followed a letter received a week ago from Miss Farrar's lawyers telling him that certain differences which were not made public could be talked over in the law office. In the meantime, the letter said, Tellegen was not to approach his wife nor to enter her house. He found the lock of their residence changed and was denied admission, his counsel asserted. Servants told him his wife was out of the city.

Mr. Tellegen, his counsel declared, attempted for several days to get into communication with his wife before filing his suit, but met with no success. Friends said that his wife visited him at Long Branch, N. J., several times during the weeks immediately preceding the receipt of her letter. No explanation of their differences was offered.

Alvin Untermyer, counsel for Miss Farrar, declared tonight that his client had not been served with any papers whatever in an action for separation or otherwise, nor had he received any such papers for her.

Misses Lizzie Nowell and Amy Baugh and Mr. Wm. Wels were out for the day.

PRIMARY RACE IS ON IN FULL BLAST IN MASON COUNTY

Democrats Enter Derby With a Fast Track and Much Interest Among the Spectators on the Side Lines—Women Voting Well.

The county primary is on in full blast throughout Mason county today with only Democrats participating in the voting and with the Republican voters watching with interest the outcome of the battle of the Democrats.

The county has had few primary elections in which the fights have been harder fought. Some of the primary candidates have been busy electioneering for the past four or five months. Many have turned the noses of their automobiles into every lane and dirt road in the county and the hands of the "deer peepers" have been shaken until many of them are quite tired.

Taken as a whole the primary has been as clean as such a race could be expected to be but in several of the races, the campaign has gotten bitter and all sorts of rumors and counter rumors have been started. The entry of several third termers has made the race especially interesting and these races will be watched closely.

It is our prediction that when the vote is reported from the thirty precincts of the county this evening, there will be several close fights. The sheriff, assessor and circuit clerk races will probably be the hardest fought and tightest campaigns although in practically every race every candidate will show strength.

Republican candidates, all of whom had no opposition in the primary for nomination, are awaiting the verdict of the Democratic voters as to who will be their opponents and the big fight will now open in earnest following the awarding of nomination certificates.

Don't fail to hear George Miller Ryder Sunday night at chautauqua. 2t

BABY FILLED ITS MOUTH WITH LYE

Distressing Accident Happens to a Little Girl Near Leesburg, Ohio.

Leesburg, Ohio.—A distressing accident occurred last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Homer Rees, of near Leesburg, when their sixteen months old daughter, Helen, accidentally filled her mouth with lye.

The child had been left alone for a few moments and found a sack of lye. With a natural curiosity of a child she investigated and of course put what she found into her mouth.

When her mother's attention was attracted by her screams, Mrs. Rees had the presence of mind to apply vinegar while a physician was hastily summoned. For a time convulsions were feared, so terrific was the pain, but after the physician had administered aid it was thought that the baby would get along all right, the examination leading to show that she had not swallowed any of the lye.

SEVERELY INJURED IN FIGHTING FIRE ON ADAMS FARM

Adams County Farmer Loses Heavily When Burn Burns and Is Badly Burned Himself.

Arch Adamson, residing on the farm near the Grace Run bridge in Adams County, Ohio, formerly owned by C. E. Kirkpatrick, between North Liberty and Seams, was severely burned about the face and hands when fire destroyed his fine barn.

Mr. Adamson suffered a heavy loss in property. In addition to the barn and silo, the flames consumed a tractor, Ford Sedan, farm machinery, 20 tons of hay, 8 tons of fodder, 250 White Leghorn hens, and a fine mare and colt. The other match mare of his work team was found safe on the outside of the building. It is supposed that the animal became frightened at the start of the fire and jumped over the manger into the drive way and ran out the main doorway which was open.

Three acres of fine growing tobacco near the barn was shivered up and ruined by the heat from the fire.

The origin of the fire is not known. Mr. Adamson and his family had retired for the night and the flames were first discovered by his wife.

OUR POLICY:

And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the county as a whole.

DOCTOR GANFIELD'S DECISION.

The decision of Doctor W. A. Ganfield, of Centre College, to accept the presidency of Carroll College, and to leave Kentucky, has come with a sense of shock to all his friends, who are legion, and to the people of the state generally. Some intimation of his action had been received in a newspaper item of several weeks ago, but it was not taken very seriously at the time as Doctor Ganfield had already become, in the consciousness of Kentuckians, one of the institutions of the commonwealth. It still seems difficult to accept the fact or to become reconciled to it.

Few men have ever come into the South from a different section or into Kentucky from another state, who have so quickly won a way into the confidence and affections of our people. Doctor Ganfield has never been a stranger. Like a son of the soil he has gone in and out among us as one of ourselves, and could not have seemed closer to us had his ancestors been among the Kentucky pioneers.

Many public men have said within the last few days that the beloved president of Centre College is the most popular man in the state, and yields an influence for good impossible to measure. A stalwart Christian character, a great educator, a brilliant speaker, a striking and magnetic personality, Doctor Ganfield has been a dynamo of moral and intellectual energy; and speaking as he has to such multitudes of people he has left everywhere the deep impress of his fine example and noble ideals.

To the churches of the state; to the moral forces and the educational institutions; to the young people who have listened to his eloquence and sound advice upon innumerable commencement occasions; to the business men and the politicians, with all of whom he has been popular; to all classes, to the whole community of Kentucky people, the announcement of his decision will carry a sense of loss and a feeling of keen regret.

The Leader realizes what this will mean to Danville and to Centre, but Doctor Ganfield has lived so large a life among us, and been so thoroughly identified with the life of the state, that we think first of him as a distinguished citizen of Kentucky. This paper extends its good wishes to Doctor Ganfield, should his resolution be unshaken, as he goes to his new home and field, and its sincere condolences to the college and the people of Danville. But we still hope that we shall not have to give him up.—Lexington Leader.

A NONSENSICAL SUGGESTION.

Because Henry Ford has made a success of a short railroad he bought some time ago to furnish transportation to and from his factories, some 400 Michigan residents have urged that the government put Ford in charge of all the railroads of the country. It is hardly to be assumed that these gentlemen take their suggestion seriously, but, if they do, there are several good reasons why the idea should not be adopted. Of course, if the government is to have the power to put Ford or any other man in charge of the railroads, the properties must first be purchased by the Government. About the time the roads had been acquired, Henry Ford would be old enough to die. The government, then, would have a railroad system to turn over to a politician to run, with results similar to the expensive experience under the McAdoo administration. It may be admitted that Mr. Ford is a master of business efficiency—a mastery acquired through a life-time of concentration on business to the exclusion of practically everything else. But neither Mr. Ford nor any other one man could long conduct the entire railroad system of the country. The suggestion that he do so is ridiculous.

PRACTICING AS HE PREACHED.

Secretary of War Weeks, while a member of the Senate, was the author of a resolution proposing a bi-partisan commission on reconstruction as a means of getting the nation back to normal as rapidly as possible and with the least disturbance, when war has been ended. He offered his plan several months before the armistice, but it was defeated by the Democratic administration. Now that Weeks is at the head of an executive department, he is putting his economy and reconstruction plans into operation. The country would be far better off if the Weeks plan had been adopted when proposed, or if Weeks had been at the head of the War Department when the armistice was signed.

BUY AT HOME.

A protective tariff is not only justified but necessitated by the fact that in many other countries the standard of living is much lower than in America, and the cost of production of goods correspondingly lower. That being true, if there be no protective import tax, the foreigner can market his goods here, thus depriving the American producer of the work and wages incident to production. Every dollar sent abroad for foreign goods is a dollar less in circulation here and a dollar more for the rebuilding of the industries of our commercial rivals. It is merely a question of imposing an import tax that will encourage buying at home.

MISCHIEF-MAKERS SMILE.

With a grin of amusement over the predicament of the Republican administration, the Democrats read the announcement of the discovery that the Shipping Board incurred a deficit of $380,000,000 last year. How the Republicans can pull the country out of this and other difficulties created by the Wilson administration is a problem yet to be solved, and the Democrats seem to get satisfaction out of watching the Republicans try.

AMERICAN LEGION NOTES.

Louisville, Ky. — The Third State Convention of The American Legion will be addressed by two of the most forceful speakers from National Headquarters. Alvin M. Owsley, Assistant Director of the National Americanism Commission and Dan S. Hollenga, National Field Representative will address the delegates and visitors to Lexington September 1st. Mr. Owsley addressed the great mass meeting of Americans in Madison Square Garden, New York during the spring. During the war he served in the same division with the present State Commander of Kentucky, M. K. Gordon of Madisonville. Mr. Hollenga is well known to a great number of Kentucky Legionnaires having visited the state during the month of June, 1921.

Lexington, Ky. — Answering the call of Roger D. Williams, of Lexington, Commander of the old First Kentucky Infantry Brigade, the officers and men of the old organization which was split up at Camp Shelby during the war, will rally at Lexington during the State Convention of the Legion, September 1st and 2nd, 1921. In their first reunion, Henry J. Stiles of Louisville (formerly Hopkinsville) has had the "paper work" thrust upon him and is now busy lining the old gang which will fight ever again the battles of Ft. Thomas, El Paso, Shelby and France. Mr. Stiles states that the three Regimental Commanders, Wm. A. Colston of Washington, (formerly Louisville), Geo. T. Smith, Kentucky, and Jonett Henry, Hopkinsville, will be on hand to vie with their officers and men swapping yards of the barracks and camp fires. The reunion will bring together Kentuckians from the Big Sandy Valley to the Purchase, many of whom have not seen each other since the old First was split up for over-seas service.

Glasgow, Ky. — Forty strong the Legionnaires of Glasgow, accompanied by their band, will leave home on a special train, August 31, at 9 p. m. en route to the State Convention in Lexington. Legionnaires and visitors to the convention from neighboring counties and along the right of way of the L. & N. from Glasgow to Lexington are invited to "fall in." The Barren County Post, with its band and its post colors flying, will step it off in the parade on the morning of September 2nd, in a way calculated to convince the Legionnaires that Glasgow is the ideal Convention City for 1922.

AN OPEN LETTER TO WOMEN

Mrs. Little Tells How She Suffered and How Finally Cured

Philadelphia, Pa. — "I was not able to do my housework and had to lie down most of the time and felt bad in my left side. My monthly periods were irregular, sometimes five or seven months apart and when they did appear would last for two weeks and were very painful. I was sick for about a year and a half and doctors but without improvement. A neighbor recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to me, and the second day after I started taking it I began to feel better and I kept on taking it for seven months. Now I keep house and perform all my household duties. You can use these facts as you please and I will recommend Vegetable Compound to everyone who suffers as I did." — Mrs. J. S. LITTLE, 3465 Livingston St., Philadelphia, Pa.

How much harder the daily tasks of a woman become when she suffers from such distressing symptoms and weakness as did Mrs. Little. No woman should allow herself to get into such a condition because such troubles may be speedily overcome by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, which for more than forty years has been restoring American women to health.

New York Letter

by Lucy Jeanne Price

New York. — Everything seems to be thrown under the term of "vamping" nowadays, things that one never would have thought of a really belonging there. For instance, there is the case of John Bjorkman. He let himself into the home of Mrs. Margaret McDonald in W. 86th street the other night by way of a second-story window, which happened to open into her daughter's sleeping room. Evidently he was considerably ashamed afterwards of having let himself be captured without more show of resistance, and of not having enough pep to make a getaway when he saw that Miss McDonald was awake. So he turned to the present-day universal explanation. "The girl must have vamped me," said John, "or I'd 'a' got away." "What did she say or do?" he was asked. "She called out 'Mother, bring the revolver quick!'" explained John.

A Pekinese pup and a portrait of King George I. of England are partners in one of the latest matrimonial difficulties. Mrs. Margaret Carrere Reid, former wife of Daniel G. Reid, multimillionaire railroad magnate, lost her fight the other day to retain possession of those two prize valuables which her ex-husband claimed for his own. Property valued at $500,000, including the furnishings of the Reid home at 907 Fifth avenue, was involved in the original arbitration between the two parties. But the pup and the portrait were subjects of the final and most bitter dispute.

Sometimes it is pretty nice for an actress to play in her own home town; and then again, it might be a bit overwhelming. I should think. There is Emma Dunn, who is the featured member of the cast of "Sonny," George V. Hobart's new play. The play is having its preliminary opening in Stamford, Conn., before coming to New York; and Stamford is Emma Dunn's home. So during the week the play is on there, the entire cast are guests in Miss Dunn's home. It isn't one of those four or five character plays, either. It's "a play with music" and that means just one degree less in the way of big choruses and all that than does a straight-away "musical comedy."

—NY—
An exciting situation has arisen over in our usually quiet part of the city—the Borough of Queens. Some mysterious person has decorated the sidewalks and paved roadways with painted advertising signs—not amateurish painting, but regular sign-painters painting—all nine even lines and borders and neat letters and all that. And they have done it without the necessary permit from the Borough President's office! Now that by itself isn't exciting, even though it might be irritating to officialdom. The excitement comes from the fact that the article advertised by the signs is—Mayor Hyman's campaign for re-election. "Fight for Hyman. Join the Hyman League" cry the painted words. And "It's no sort of way to violate our law" says the Borough.

—NY—
The stir of political interest in that Long Island section of our city is mild in comparison with that afoot in Yonkers, our nearest suburb to the north. For in that community of homes and firesides, Mrs. Franklin K. Woodruff is a candidate for delegate to the Republican state convention AGAINST HER HUSBAND. Moreover, and noteworthy Mrs. Woodruff is the candidate of the regular Republican organization, while Mr. Woodruff is the candidate of those who used to be the regulars but are no more; and a bitter fight is already in action between the two factions. The feminine member of the candidatorial family changed her mind once and said she guessed she wouldn't run against her life-partner after all. Then she changed it again and said yes, she would, all understanding of partnership notwithstanding. "Something upset me and made me feel discouraged the day I said I wouldn't run," she has explained. "But I am going to stay in the race to the finish." LUCY JEANNE PRICE.

MOVING PICTURES.

Milo. Andree Peyre, the darling French flyer, whose death-defying acrobatic stunts on the wing of a flying airplane have thrilled thousands and incidentally won for her the title of "the nerviest girl in the world," is said to be considering entering motion pictures.

It is not generally known, but prior to the development of her wing walking specialty, Milo. Peyre played ingenue parts for Pathe and Gaumont in her native land, so that the screen will not be entirely new to her.

No announcement as to her plans has yet been made, but it is expected that she will do some of her most thrilling mid-air feats before the camera's eye. It is needless to say that she will have no one to "double" for her.

Dorothy Phillips, the winsome wife of Allen Holubar, who has directed her in so many screen successes, the most recent being "Man-Woman-Marriage," despite flattering offers is not to return to the speaking stage, whether as one of the favorites of the silver sheet or as herself. This fall, as was recently reported.

Instead she will be seen in another elaborate photodrama, as yet unnamed, which is now being produced by her husband at their California studio. In richness and novelty of effects, and in dramatic values, which will give Miss Phillips the widest range for the display of her pliant personality and artistic talents, the picture, which will be at least four months in the making, it is said, will surpass all previous productions of this gifted couple.

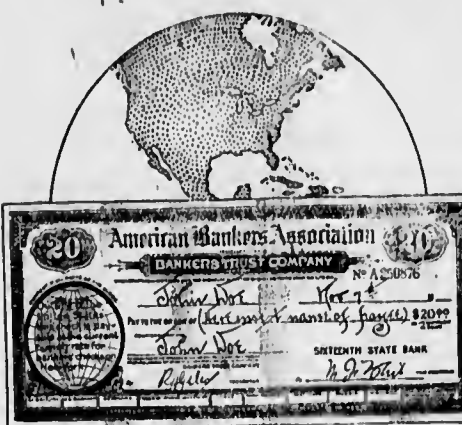

Booth Tarkington has completed the scenario on his story, "The American," which he has written as the initial starring vehicle for Miss Gladys Bentley, the Louisville (Ky.) society girl, who recently made her screen debut with Bert Lyle in "The Man Who—?" "The American" will be the first of a series of specially presented photoplays in which Miss Bentley will be starred, designed especially for churches and schools, but equally desirable for the better class theaters, by reason of the fact that their subjects will be neither educational or religious in character, but selected solely for their entertainment value.

William H. Tooker, the veteran character lead, whose name to most photoplay-goers is as much of a magnet as that of a majority of stars, will be seen in a prominent part in the second of the James Oliver Curwood stories, "God's Country and the Law," which the Pine Tree Pictures Inc. of Portland, Maine, is making for the screen, under the direction of Sidney Olcott.

Besides Tooker, the cast includes Gladys Leslie, Cesare Gravina, Fred C. Jones, and Hope Sutherland.

NOW IS THE TIME TO SEE AMERICA

Every one of America's big cities has interest for the traveler, particularly at this time of great commercial and industrial activity. There is more variety of scenery and climate in America worthy of your trips than in any other country of the world. Travelers come from all over the globe—to see America. Have you seen it?

Your "American tour" will be more pleasant if you carry the "best funds for travelers"— morseless Love," which is fast nearing completion at the Selznick studios, Fort Lee, N. J.

George Dunlos Proctor, who wrote the story and scenario of "On the Back Lot," the initial starring vehicle for Anetha Getwell, the famous beauty, which Pantheon Pictures Corporation recently completed, is at work on a second script for the company for the same star, entitled "Idle Eyes."

Milo. Narcita, famous Spanish beauty, and formerly internationally known as premier stellar luminary of the patria film company, of Madrid and of the Royal Cinema Corporation Ltd. of Montreal, Canada, after an absence of nearly four years, has come to this country from her native Spain to study screen conditions in America at first hand.

She is said to represent a group of French and Spanish capitalists, of whom Louis Nalpas, the famous French director, who has been called "The French Griffith," is the leading spirit.

Milo. Narcita, who will have the stellar role this fall in an important production, part of which will probably be made in France and part in this country, may possibly accept an engagement during her sojourn here in order to familiarize herself with the latest methods in American screen technique.

Among her best known pictures are "A Night of Temptation" by Victoria Cross, "Too Late," "The Crystal Cup" and "The Peacock."

Frances Eldridge, who was prominent in the all star cast of the screen version of the celebrated Ralph Connor story, "The Foreigner," produced by Dominion Film Company is considering an offer to enter vaudeville.

The variety stage is one branch of the theater world into which Miss Eldridge has not yet ventured with her talents, having hitherto confined herself to the legitimate stage and motion pictures.

Should she accept, she will be another of the screen favorites who have forsaken the silent art for the spoken stage so far this season.

William Nigh, author and director of many screen successes, is directing Wesley Barry, the famous boy star, who first won national notice in the title role of "Dinty," in a picture version of "School Days," Gus Edwards' popular stage play, which he has written in collaboration with Walter De Leon. Nigh has an unusual facility for injecting novel and intensely human "twists" into all his screen productions, and while retaining all the popular features which have made "School Days" popular on the stage, he has created many entirely new and original scenes and situations for the film play.

Dorinda, the celebrated dancer and motion picture star, who recently insured her lambering limbs for the record sum of $125,000 and who has been making a whirlwind trip through the south and central western states making personal appearances in conjunction with the showings of her latest picture, "Passion Fruit" is expected to make an important announcement regarding her future plans on her return east at the close of her tour. It is said that her next picture, which will be made by her own company, will be a massive historical spectacle of classical character and that it will be made abroad, either in France or Italy.

Rockcliffe Fellowes, famous for the finesse with which he portrays the Cro-Magnon possibilities of the tailor-made hero just as the heroine refuses to be rescued and made "happy ever afterward," will be seen in the leading role of the new Marshall Neilan production now nearing completion under the tentative title "Some People."

Mildred Moore, the promising young ingenue, who has been seen in small parts in several Famous Players-Lasky and Metro pictures has now definitely decided to forsake the speaking stage for the screen. She has been given the part of the pretty "school marm" in "School Days" which William Nigh is making for Warner Bros.

SUCCESS OF IRISH PEACE MOVE STILL IN DOUBT

Purpose of Dail Eireann Meeting (called for August 16) Unknown.

London, August 5. — Extreme reticence is observed relative to the Irish negotiations. From a number of confidential reports today the only definite fact emerging is that the Dail Eireann has been summoned to register the success or failure of the negotiations there is no hint.

It is supposed that this long notice is given in order to afford the time necessary for the formalities for the liberation of the imprisoned members of the Irish republican parliament, to whom notification of the meeting has been sent.

It is known that there have been parleys between Dublin and Belfast with a view to ascertaining the minimum Ulster is disposed to accept and, despite adverse rumors, the belief continues here that it is the intent of the government itself to prevent the breakdown of the negotiations and that therefore any influence the government is able to exercise over the Ulster cabinet will be in the direction of reconciliation between the North and South.

SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON.
AUGUST 7, 1921.
Topic: "Paul Becomes a Missionary." Acts 13:1-5, 13, 14, 41-52.
REV. J. J. DICKEY.

It had been many years since Saul was called to be an apostle to the Gentiles, before the Holy Ghost sent him on his first missionary tour. The best we can calculate it was from six to nine years. These were years of preparation. God first tested him, and then sent him. The word missionary means one sent, from a Latin word which means to send. Notice, God gives to the church the agency to send men to preach the Gospel. God calls and the church sends. The Antioch church was a live church and it is that kind of churches that send out preachers, evangelists, missionaries, Christian workers.

The reason for our lack of ministers is for the lack of live churches. Make the church normal and we will have all the ministers we need. Saul's name is now changed to Paul, and he steps into leadership. Barnabas seems to have been the leader before. Together they start on their journey.

This is an important epoch in the history of the church. God did not charge the Jews under the Mosaic dispensation to carry the Bible to the ends of the earth. Why, we can only guess. Now they are commissioned to "go into all the world and preach the Gospel to every creature." What a privilege, what a task! How slow the church has been to obey the great commission! Nearly two thousand years have elapsed and the work is hardly half done. Another epoch in the history of the church has come. At last the church has resolved that the work shall be carried swiftly to completion.

All of the denominations have determined that this work shall be done. They are going at the work with something of the zeal of the apostles. The man who cannot see the hand of God in the present movement of the churches for the world's evangelization must lack vision. He who says he does not believe in foreign missions does not have the zeal of the church at Antioch. Such an one should open his Bible and read, open his heart and ask God to fill it with His love. Thus Illuminated he will get a vision of God's plans and purposes he did not have before.

Barnabas and Saul took with them John Mark, who left the man went to his home in Jerusalem, before they had gone very far. They set sail from Salamis, the port of Antioch, landed at Salamis, on the Eastern end of the Island of Cyprus, sixty miles from Salamis. This was the home of Barnabas. They traveled through the island about a hundred and twenty miles long to Paphos. Thence they came to Parga in Pamphilia where John left them. Departing from Parga they came to Antioch, in Pisidia, and went into the synagogue of the Jews on the Sabbath day.

At Paphos Paul preached his first recorded sermon. The occasion was the opposition of Elymas, the soothsayer, and it rings with Pauline courage and intensity. See Chapter 13. An Antioch in Pisidia we have his second recorded sermon. Again he stirs up opposition. "The honorable women" opposed him. It is said that this was a free city and woman suffrage was in vogue. Paul and Barnabas were driven out of the city, but their converts were filled with the Holy Ghost.

God was a long time getting the world and the church ready for this great forward movement. The Greek language was universal. Rome had bound the civilized world together with great military roads, so that travel was comparatively easy. The Jews had opened their synagogues in the chief cities of the Roman empire and had disseminated the great fact of one God. Monotheism as opposed to polytheism — and thus prepared the public for a further revelation of Christ as the savior of mankind — the brotherhood of man and the fatherhood of God.
